Networks and Distributed Systems (NetSys) Lab

The Networks and Distributed Systems Lab at OVGU Magdeburg, headed by Prof. Dr. David Hausheer, is active in several networked and distributed systems research areas, including software-defined networking, network functions virtualization, decentralized and overlay networks, as well as related security and economic aspects. At this stage, the group's major focus is on economic and secure management of networking resources in fixed and mobile software-defined network infrastructures.

News

10.04.2024
Check out our courses for the Summer Term 24

10.04.2023
Check out our courses for the Summer Term 23

12.10.2021
Check out our courses for the Winter Term 21/22

› more...